Personalized Gynecology & Menopause Care

DR. ERIN KUNKEL, MD | EAST GREENWICH, RHODE ISLAND

About Dr. Kunkel

Dr. Erin Kunkel received her medical degree from Brown University and completed her OB/GYN residency at Pennsylvania Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. She spent more than seven years practicing general obstetrics and gynecology in Rhode Island before developing a practice designed to give women more time, accessibility and continuity with their gynecologist.

Her clinical interests include general gynecology, perimenopause and menopause, PCOS, endometriosis, contraceptive counseling and obesity medicine. She has pursued additional training in menopause care, integrative women's health and obesity medicine.

A Different Kind of Women's Health Practice

Dr. Kunkel's practice is built around longer visits, direct physician access and an ongoing relationship. There is time to ask questions, understand treatment options and explore the many layers of a patient's health and wellness. Patients may choose ongoing membership-based care, while select gynecology services are also available without membership.
